

WINTER VOYAGES

with Christian Radich 2014/15

Warm weather and exotic ports

This year's winter voyages offer a lot of good sailing in warmer waters and memorable tours to exotic places. You can either choose a 2 weeks voyage along the African coast in November or a one week winter voyage around the Canary Islands just after Christmas, when winter is at its coldest in Northern Europe.

Malaga – Casablanca – Madeira – Las Palmas

In the November voyage, we combine sailing on the world's finest sailing ship with exotic adventures in Morocco and a visit to Madeira. The voyage starts in Malaga, Spain on November 8. To Malaga there are good flight connections. When all the trainees have arrived, we start with the preparations. Early next morning we set sail heading to the African coast. We sail through Gibraltar and sense already there that we are heading towards the African continent. We hope for good sailing with fair winds. It is 260 nautical miles to Casablanca and we arrive here Tuesday morning.

Casablanca is special to sailors, today the city has expanded. Buses are waiting to take us to Marrakech which really is the big adventure in Morocco. Marrakech is Morocco's old capital and has been the center of trade routes for centuries. The city's medina, the old town, is a UNESCO World Heritage Site. We spend one night in Marrakech to explore the city. A local guide joins us the whole trip.

After the noise and colors in Marrakech, it will be a contrast to set sail with Christian Radich again, out to sea and silence! We are sailing to the west, the wind is often smooth and nice from north, but we may need to tack once or more on our way.

After four days at sea, the next port we visit is Funchal, the Capital of Madeira, This very green island is famous for its flowers. We spend a night here. You stay on board and explore the island on your own. From here we sail to the last port, which is Las Palmas.

A week's voyage around the Canaries

Some years ago, we arranged such voyages, and several people have asked when we will sail around the Canaries again. This will be a wonderful week away from everyday life where we enjoy the weather, wind and sea! The Canary Islands offers often stable winds from the north and excellent sailing conditions. We will pass several of the known islands, and probably we see Tenerife's snowy peak Teide, 3717 m. above sea! We are planning a stop, perhaps in a place we have not been before.

Practicalities

The ship can accommodate 80 trainees – everyone can sail with Christian Radich – and they do! Each trainee is assigned to one of three watch teams which have 4 hours on duty and 8 hours off – both day and night. Among the duties are lookout, fire-and safety patrols, sail manoeuvres and steering – all performed under professional supervision. The sail manoeuvres can be demanding, but spectacular. Entering the rig is the ultimate event to many, but it is not mandatory.

The trainees sleep in hammocks or bunk beds in two comfortable, air-conditioned dormitories below deck. The ship has modern shower facilities and serves three excellent meals per day. A small slope chest is also available where souvenirs, toiletries and snacks can be purchased.

Appropriate clothing is necessary, including rainwear and warm and windproof clothes. Further information regarding what to bring along will be sent out with the trainee handbook after registration.

The age limit is 15 years (on departure date), or 12 years if travelling together with parents. If you are over 70 years of age, we need a health certificate from your doctor. You must be healthy enough to participate in the work on board also at night.
