

What can be more delightful than a voyage around the Canaries in early January, it gives you a taste of summer and makes a good start of the year. It will be a wonderful week away from everyday life where we will enjoy the weather, wind and sea! The Canary Islands offers often stable winds from the north and excellent sailing conditions. We will pass several of the known islands, and probably see Tenerife's snowy peak Teide, 3717 m. above sea! We are planning a stop, perhaps in a place we have not been before. The Captain and his crew have sailed here before, so we know the waters well.

Practicalities

The ship can accommodate 80 trainees – everyone can sail with Christian Radich – and they do! Each trainee is assigned to one of three watch teams which have 4 hours on duty and 8 hours off - both day and night. Among the duties are lookout, fire-and safety patrols, sail manoeuvres and steering - all performed under professional supervision. The sail manoeuvres can be demanding, but spectacular. Entering the rig is the ultimate event to many, but it is not mandatory.

The trainees sleep in hammocks or bunk beds in two comfortable, air-conditioned dormitories below deck. The ship has modern shower facilities and serves three excellent meals per day. A small slope chest is also available where souvenirs, toiletries and snacks can be purchased.
